

Oilers Capture Rubber Game Over Kentucky

Lexington, Ky., July 10 (AP)—A point-rich struggle in the closing minutes gave the Phillips Oilers a 50-50 victory over the University of Kentucky in the rubber game of their pre-Olympic basketball series before 14,000 fans here last night.

It was the largest crowd ever to see a basketball game in Kentucky, played under floodlights of the U. K. football field to accommodate the turnout.

The Oilers, amateur athletic union champions, beat Kentucky 53-49 in the final of the Olympic trials at Madison Square Garden, New York. Then they won the first of the pre-Olympic series, 60-52, only to lose to Kentucky at Knoxville, Tenn., 70-60, in overtime.

Kentucky, National Collegiate Athletic Association champion, held a five point advantage at the half, 31-26, and then increased it to 10-5.

John Barkdale, Negro star of the Oakland Bitters, and tall Bob Kurland paced the Phillips' rally. Each tallied 13 points. But Kentucky's towering center, Alex Groza, captured scoring honors with 15.

Allies Hopeful Moscow Will Lift Blockade

Washington, July 10 (AP)—American officials expressed hope today that Moscow will yield to western power arguments and warnings and lift the Russian blockade of Berlin.

If the Soviets do not give way, the only alternative course seen by diplomats here is for the United States, Britain and France to take the case before the United Nations in an effort to force Russia by legal means to give them free access to the city.

The arguments and warnings of the western powers were made public last night. Washington, London and Paris released the texts of similar notes which they had sent to Russia on the Berlin situation last night.

These notes advised the Soviet government directly for the first time that the three powers considered that (a) they are in Berlin by right, (b) they have the right of free access to the city and (c) they will not be forced out by threats of pressure.

In the words of the American note, which Secretary of State Marshall signed, the United States government "declares that it will not be induced by threats, pressures or other action to abandon these rights." Marshall then sought to clinch the point by adding:

"It is hoped that the Soviet government contains no doubts whatsoever on this point. What some difference in wording, the British and French took the same line.

Together with the Americans they also offered to negotiate outstanding disputes between East and West in Berlin but demanded that the blockade must be lifted first. Marshall insisted that this be done without delay.

Throughout all three notes ran the implication of an appeal to the United Nations unless the Russians were willing to put an end to a situation which Marshall described as "intolerable."

The Western powers are now feeding 2,400,000 people in the Western sectors of the city with supplies brought in by air transport. The blockade has been in force three weeks.

A specific reference to the United Nations appeared in the American note. Marshall appealed to the Soviets to join in a peaceful settlement of the Berlin differences in line with Article 33 of the U. N. charter. This article not only calls for peaceful settlement methods among U. N. members but also empowers the Security Council to direct them to use such methods whenever it deems necessary.

No policy decisions have been made on the U. N. appeal, however, and the answer on a responsive action by the Soviets none is likely to be made.

Moscow up to early today had not a word to say about the three-power notes.

The Western powers, judged in the light of their messages to Moscow, are determined right now to make two points unmistakably clear to the Kremlin. These are that the Russians cannot force them out of Berlin by measures short of war nor can they be forced into an immediate new meeting of the foreign ministers council to reopen the whole question of Germany's future.

But the drama critics have been burning earthenware over his "The Glass Menagerie" and "A Street Car Named Desire." Perhaps now, at long last, I think that helped at long last publish my play. Well, you didn't ask for it, but here it is:

"The curtain rises and discloses a luxurious room in a hospital as plush that even death can't get in without showing a calling card. A venerable, white-haired lady and a high-priced medical specialist stand before a door. Beyond the door, but unseen by the audience, the lady's husband—a poor old multi-millionaire—is dying in comfort."

Doctor (Gomberly):—"He's still conscious, but he can't last another half hour."

Lady—"Can you guarantee it?" Doctor (Surprised):—"Beg pardon?"

Lady—"I want to tell him something, but only if he's about to go to heaven."

Doctor (tearfully):—"Well, he's about to go somewhere."

Lady—"I must confide in you, doctor. You see, my husband is—"

Doctor:—"Oh, Broadway—it's yours. I don't think I want it anymore."

Palestine Flames Again

This map shows the Jewish war situation as fighting resumed at the end of the United Nations' 28-day truce. Fighting in violation of the UN truce terms already broke out at Tiberias and the Haifa Tel Aviv highway, where UN vehicles were reported fired on, and at Beer Tuvya (2).

American Note to Moscow Leaves No Doubt That U. S. Has Had Enough Bullying

By DeWitt MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The American note to Moscow, demanding that the Soviet Union immediately lift the food blockade of western Berlin, is couched in a blunt, direct, and unambiguous language the Soviets will understand.

It is perhaps the most forceful communication ever laid before the post-war Muscovites.

It isn't belligerent and it doesn't threaten, but it leaves no doubt that Uncle Sam has had enough of bullying. He isn't taking any more.

Similar notes were sounded simultaneously by both Britain and France. So far as America is concerned, it will be sweet music in the ears of the average citizen, who has been waiting eagerly for this hardening against Communist aggression.

The "average" citizen, by the way, gives his loyalty to America. There are Communists and fellow travelers, who are citizens in name only and take their orders from Moscow, to whom the note will not be music.

The Communist food blockade is, of course, an inhuman effort to starve the 2,400,000 civilians of western Berlin and thus force America, France and Britain to withdraw from the capital. Such a withdrawal would leave the city in the hands of the Soviets.

Well and good, but supposing Moscow should "get tough" and refuse to lift the blockade?

Not That She Minded Telling All But Didn't Want Hubby Around to Brag About It

By HAL BOYLE

New York. (AP)—"Strange people with long hair keep sidling up to me at literary teas and whispering: 'Young man, why don't you quit chasing fire engines and write a play? There's fame and fortune in that line.'"

"Surely you have a play in you." This makes me mad. Because I did have a play in me—but it's been outside me now for some years.

I wrote it when I—Hal (Missouri) Boyle—was in college with Tennessee (Thomas Lanier) Williams. While I was earnestly studying the history of early Roman hand instruments and other cultural subjects, Tennessee wasted his prime in literary doodling.

But the drama critics have been burning earthenware over his "The Glass Menagerie" and "A Street Car Named Desire." Perhaps now, at long last, I think that helped at long last publish my play. Well, you didn't ask for it, but here it is:

Israeli Troops Claim Victory in Key Battle

Cairo, July 10 (AP)—An Israeli government spokesman said today Jewish troops killed 300 Egyptians and captured 200 in a battle near Isdud, 25 miles south of Tel Aviv. To the northeast they captured the prized Lydda airport, he said at a strong sweep against Israeli forces.

South of Isdud, however, the Jewish settlement of Negba was battered by artillery and air attack. Jews evacuated the isolated settlement of Kfar Darom, the Tel Aviv spokesman admitted. The Egyptians claimed capture of Kfar Darom last night. Arabs also recaptured Beit Affah in the same area.

Tel Aviv was bombed again today by two unidentified Spitfires. A Jewish communiqué said there were no casualties.

Jewish government leaders were reported drafting an answer to Count Folke Bernadotte's urgent appeal for a new 10-day cease fire, which he had hoped would begin this morning.

In Cairo Arab League sources said the Arab nations would remain silent on this. Secretary General Abdul Rahman Azzam Pasha of the seven-nation league, told newsmen he received the U. N. mediator's appeal but the league political committee is no longer here and cannot act on it now.

Bernadotte left his Rhodes headquarters en route to New York to lay the whole Palestine situation before the U. N. Security Council.

In Tel Aviv the Jewish government spokesman said the Israelis launched their attack on Lydda airport at midnight with a large column of armored vehicles and infantry. The airport is less than 15 miles southeast of Tel Aviv, just on the U. N.-proposed border between Jewish and Arab territory. It is Palestine's chief airport.

The Egyptian defense ministry last night said 325 Jewish soldiers were killed yesterday in the coastal plain area below Isdud.

A Sunday report from the Jewish held section said John MacDonald, new U. S. consul general, was fired on yesterday by a sniper but was unhurt. His predecessor, Thomas C. Wasson, was killed by a sniper. MacDonald is a native of St. Louis.

Reds free to create another satellite state out of the German zone of occupation, with Berlin as the capital.

Of this scheme the Washington note warns that the United States will not be compelled by "threats, pressures, or other actions" to abandon its rights in Berlin. And listen to this:

"It is intolerable that any one of the occupying authorities should attempt to impose a blockade upon the people of Berlin. The United States government is therefore obliged to insist that in accordance with existing agreements the arrangements for the movement of freight and passenger traffic between the western zones and Berlin be fully restored."

Secretary Marshall says in the note that the United States "is ready as a first step to participate in negotiations in Berlin among the four Allied occupying authorities for the settlement of outstanding disputes. However, he flatly declares it is a pre-requisite that the lines of communication and the movement of persons and goods between the United Kingdom, the United States and the French sectors in Berlin and the western zone shall have been fully restored."

Well and good, but supposing Moscow should "

THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling has stolen his wife's diamond necklace and handed it over as security on a $10,000 gambling debt to racketeer Harry Bindle. To cover the theft, perpetrated while his wife slept, Sterling makes it appear a professional burglar. He then goes to Edgemoor Country Club to spend the night and establish an alibi. Along with the necklace, he has also taken a sealed packet from his wife's safe. This, Marcus discovers later, is $10,000 which Miriam had withdrawn from the bank to give him.

Next morning, Police Lt. Talent arrives at the Sterling household. Sgt. Gable shows him over the disarranged library.

Talent noticed that a cluster of wall lights at one side of the arched doorway leading into the hall shone brightly.

"You put on those lights?" Talent asked Gable.

"No, they were on," Gable said.

"Oh! Well, maybe the maid," Talent was cataloging the room.

"Three of these chairs sat in since the cushions were straightened," he said. "That seemed to be pretty odd for Ripley, whose pencil stub was busily engaged. Talent poked a long finger cautiously in to the ashtray, heaped with cigarette butts, beside one of the chairs.

Whoever sat here must have been a chain smoker," he commented. "All Camels."

Talent crossed to the chair beside the low coffee-table, its cushions clearly showing the imprint of a recent occupant. Again the long finger probed the nearby ashtray.

"Nice liquor supply," he said. "Used glasses. Well, Sergeant, maybe your Stella Nelson will be able to give us a little help in here later. Give us now."

Gable's answer was delayed by a loud hubbub of noises from the front hall—a medley of voices. "Upstairs, Lieutenant," Gable said. "If the door's out there, he's just in time. Sounds like the picture boys are here too."

Talent, leading the way from the room, stooped and picked up a partly smoked cigarette that obviously had been crushed out under foot on the heavy rug just inside the doorway.

"Better allow he may have been longer," Walker amended.

Small Highway

spent $37,670.355 in state funds during the four fiscal years beginning in 1944 — half a year before Gov. Ben Laney took office.

The peak was reached in 1947-48 when a total of $14,494,088 was spent, including $5,000,000 for reconstruction and $4,400,000 in matching federal money.

A total of $12,693,892 was spent in 1946-47; $6,019,031 in 1945-46; and $4,463,324 in 1944-45.

The largest amount during the entire period, $12,621,716, was spent for maintenance while more than $10,000,000 was for reconstruction and $9,000,000 for matching money. Equipment totaling $2,830,461 was purchased during the period, while administration cost $1,800,000.

Highway Engineer Alf Johnson said that the total funds spent during the same period would total $8,000,000.
